Lausche Raps Ohio Senate's 'Spending Spree'

$40 Million In New Aid Is Voted

Governor Cites 'Receding Economy'

COLUMBUS, May 12 - Gov. Frank Lausche criticized the Ohio senate today for going on a "spending spree" in times of a "receding economy" and promised to do all he could to block passage of the bills approved yesterday in the upper Lausche said the bills to aid schools and cities as passed by the senate would make new taxes mandatory.

The governor said two of the bills to aid cities and schools would cost the state $40 million in a two-year period when "there is not enough money in the treasury nor in prospect of collection to meet the new obligations.'

Lausche said: "I will do all I can to persuade the lower house not to join in the passage of these bills.

"It is my firm belief that the 12 Republicans and the approximately ten Democrats who joined with them in yesterday's spending spree are in error in what they have done."

Food Influx Now Hitting German City

Minor Red Friction With West Noted

BERLIN, May 12-Berliners, freed today of the 10-month Russian blockade, loosened belts for an influx of food, but kept wary eyes on new, though minor, storm clouds through which the Allied Airlift continued to fly. Trains, trucks, autos, bicycles and hikers streamed between the former German capital and the West. In Berlin itself, jubilant Germans hailed the arrival of food, fuel and in a glare of photographers' flashbulbs, magnesium flares and klieg lights at the Soviet zone borders when the 327-day old barriers were lifted promptly at 12:01 a. m. this morning (5:01 p. m. Wednesday, EST) was already menaced by new quarrels.

Over American and British protests, the Soviets forced Allied trains moving to Berlin to change to Soviet locomotives and crews at the Helmstedt

THE SOVIET-licenses news agency ADN announced that 'certain restrictions' would be applied to freight traffic to and from Berlin. The announcement said that all freight moving westward will require the approval of the Soviet military administration or the Soviet-sponsored economic commission. An American military government spokesman immediately declared that the West will reject such tactics. He pointed out that the beginning of the blockade was marked by similar Soviet moves. But generally, the lifting of the barriers that have cut off Berlin by land went off smoothly. The Russians waived much of their usual red tape and Westerners crossed the long-closed autobahn without difficulty. At 5:10 a. m. the first train from the West rumbled into the city, its shrill whistle proclaiming the West's victory over the from the British zone, carried mainly correspondents and military government officials. It ar-

The Chrysler building (an ugly thing if ever there was one) finally found its spot in life as a background for Kiss of Death, and so on and on. The whole metropolis has become one big movie set -and you have my confidential word for it, New Yorkers hate it.

The other night, beating my way along Eighth street on a safari to the studio of Jack Probst, the painter and self-styled Prince of Poverty, I came head-on into a film company shooting a movie involving one Farley Granger, a young actor of somewhat dubious talent but remarkable stamina. It was right after the dinner hour and Eighth street, which is the Broadway of the Village and ordinarily is just chock-full of stumbling and open-mouthed tourists who are looking timidly for Life in the Raw, was as blocked up as an unruly sink. Police had roped off a good section of the street and were busy hustling citizens along. There must have been at least a couple of dozen cops around-and, being a commercial soul, I couldn't help wondering if I, as a reasonably practicing taxpayer, was paying their salaries while they herded and if I was going to get a cut of the profits from the movie.

THE CITIZENS TOOK IT IN SOMEWHAT BAD GRACE. They mumbled and grumbled. Persons headed for the Whitney museum found it necessary to make a 10-minute detour around the block. Owners of bookshops, delicatessens and candy stores found their evening trade non-existent. Corduroy-coated artists stood around and hooted, among themselves, at young Master Granger's clothes and suggested that he see a new tailor.

Two pretty and somewhat caustic girls appeared on the scene and one said to the other, "If this is a propaganda movie, I'll just

I made several efforts to fight my way from one side of the street to the other and promptly found myself walking uncertainly among a group of extras. Mr. Granger kept running across the street and back, which seemed to be the scene they were shooting, for about three hours.

It was a distressing scene, all in all, and one that I hope is not repeated soon. When you get right down to it, New York is the most inadequate place in the world for making movies. In summer it's too humid and in winter it's too cold. It is too crowded, too disinterested and too blase.

April Total Is Set At $5,518.27

Farm Employment Cuts Figure Here

$729.98 over the March figure.

Miss Pauline Roese, relief office head, said the decrease ly to the increase of farm work

She said that the March figure was $6,248.25, carrying a case load of 147 and making payments to 459 persons, an average of $13.61 per person.

The case load during April was 139 with payments going to only 327 persons, or an average payment of $16.87, slightly higher than last month's average.

EXPENDITURES through the office in April were split down into eight separate categories by the relief head, consisting of $76 for work; $2,568.47 for food; $128.10 for fuel; $173.22 for clothing and shelter: $243 for rent: $622.05 for medicine; $985.43 for hospital cases; and $722 for Miss Roese said the April case load consisted of 66 family cases, 53 individual cases, 16 medical care cases and one work relief case. According to the figures, the average relief family has four members in it.

The total outlay by the office in April was split nearly evenly between city and county. Miss Roese said $2,762.92 was spent in the city, while $2,755 .-35 was spent for county relief.

She added that only 24 new cases were opened during April, while 35 old cases were ended. She said the case load probably would decrease drastically during the coming Summer months, when farms, canneries and orchards begin producing.
